

Search & Rescue Wilderness Survival Kits

RedHawk sells a wide variety of survival kits, customized for various situations and needs. Wilderness survival kits come in various sizes ranging from a one person kit to a complete search and rescue kit. The Search and Rescue Kit is packaged in rolling totes for ease of use and transportation.

These are full survival kits that includes food and water and extra water purification tools, as well as a more comprehensive first aid kit, and several tools including a shovel, sledgehammer, several saws and cutting tools, a camp stove and kettle, rope, and a harness. This kit has been well planned to serve the needs of a team not only surviving themselves, but also searching for others who may have been lost or injured. RedHawk survival kits are well thought out and include important additions like a 1 litre plastic water bottle to measure out how much water to add to the purification pills. All food and water supplied is certified for 5 years
